

Central Florida's "Port of Go" - International Destination & Travel Expo Postponed ... 'til May 21 and 22, 2022

January 3, 2022 (Orlando, FL) As every travel and tourism sector of the globe grapples with the complexities of Covid-19, Othal Partners, LLC has become more committed to the safety of each guest of its international travel expos and participating vendors.

"The current pandemic has become a formidable foe for every establishment across the board; however, we are determined to operate in a manner that embraces sound contingencies for the safety and welfare of all our event attendees, including the "Port of Go!," states R. Stan Kelly, CEO of Othal Partners, LLC, developers of the international destination and travel expos.

"Rest assured, travel shall return, and we are positioning ourselves to be the best resource for everyone planning business-related or personal excursions," adds Kelly.

The inaugural event was set to debut January 15 and 16, 2022 at the Orange County Convention Center in Orlando, FL; it has been postponed until May 21 & 22, 2022. At the time of this newsletter, more dates and locations are being determined and will be publicized as soon as possible. Kelly further states, "we are looking to take this expo on tour in 2022."
